

Ian Iraya

Email address: irayaian15@gmail.com

Profile

I'm a passionate Web Developer and Cybersecurity enthusiast with hands-on experience in building and launching live websites. I work independently while pursuing a degree in Computer Science and IT at The East African University. I'm focused on developing secure, efficient, and innovative tech solutions, with plans to launch my own company.

Work experience

present
Kiambu, Kenya

Web Developer & Cybersecurity Expert Independent / Freelance

Designed, developed, and deployed multiple responsive websites, several of which are currently live on Vercel and other platforms. Specialized in full-stack development and cybersecurity practices, ensuring secure, scalable, and high-performance applications. Planning to launch a personal tech venture.

Education

present
Kajiado, Kenya

Computer Science and Information Technology | Bachelor's Degree The East African University

Currently pursuing a Bachelor's in Computer Science and IT, gaining a solid foundation in programming, systems design, and cybersecurity. It has been a rewarding and insightful academic experience.